DETAILED ACTION

1. Restriction to one of the following inventions is required under 35 U.S.C. 121:
 - I. Claims 1-5, drawn to an apparatus for determining the orientation of a medical device, classified in class 606, subclass 108.
 - II. Claims 6-12, drawn to a method of using a catheter, classified in class 604, subclass 500.
 - III. Claims 13-17, drawn to a system for determining the orientation of a medical device, classified in class 604, subclass 508.
 - IV. Claims 18-21, drawn to a method of determining the orientation of a medical device, classified in class 128, subclass 898.

The inventions are distinct, each from the other because of the following reasons:

2. Inventions I and II are related as product and process for its practice. The inventions are distinct if it can be shown that either: (1) the process as claimed can be practiced by another materially different product, or (2) the product as claimed can be used to practice another and materially different process of using that product. (MPEP § 806.05(h)). In this case the product as claimed can be used to practice another and materially different process, such as a medical device that does not include a catheter which becomes curved within a patient's body. The method of invention II does not recite the steps necessitating the need to determine the orientation of the distal end of the catheter as recited, and therefore is not limited to be performed by the medical device of invention I. Because these inventions are distinct for the reasons given above and have acquired a separate status in the art as shown by their different classification, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

3. Inventions III and IV are related as product and process for its practice. The inventions are distinct if it can be shown that either: (1) the process as claimed can be practiced by another materially different product, or (2) the product as claimed can be used to practice another and materially different process of using that product. (MPEP § 806.05(h)). In this case the product as claimed can be used to practice another and materially different process, such as a system that does not include an imaging device. The method of invention IV does not recite the steps necessitating the need to determine the orientation of the distal end of the catheter as recited, and therefore is not limited to be performed by the system of invention III. Because these inventions are distinct for the reasons given above and have acquired a separate status in the art as shown by their different classification, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

Applicant is advised that the reply to this requirement to be complete must include an election of the invention to be examined even though the requirement be traversed (37 CFR 1.143).
